The Concert Last Night. The entertainment given by the Columbia Musical Association was one of the most satisfactory and successful we over had the pleasure of attending. The selections were judiciously made, and the performances exqusitely fine. We never saw a more attentive audience, nor the indications of more general approbation. We shall not attempt to compliment individual performers, where the efforts of all were so successfully directed to the grand purpose of rendering the whole series of performances, in an effective and captivating manner-except in the instance of Mrs. MUHLER. This lady's appearance and and modest and graceful demeanor at once bespoke our admiration; and in her style of execution there is a prettiness, an ease and grace, that cannot fail to win the general favor. She sings with great skill, and in a voice of richest sweetness. There are less effort and less noise in her performances than we have sometimes witnessed in the efforts of great vocalists whose advent is at times pre-announced with high praise; but there is more melody, more gentle and winning expression, and very considerable energy. Those who admired the quiet and captivating execution of Amalia Patti, se striking in its contrast with the powerful Parodi, will appreciate the full import of our remarks.

The hall was well filled with a refined and intelligent audience. A second effort will, beyond a doubt, be better attended. The people of this community require but to know the nature of the treats presented by this Association to respond freely to its every call upon their patronage.

Tennessee.

The Cincinnati Atlas of the 7th says: *-"A. H. Markland, esq., of Washington, is at present staying at the Burnet House, in this city. He leaves for Washington to-morrow. Mr. Markland is a zealous, discreet, and hard-working Whig, and is doing much good in the cause. He has been through Tennessee in company with Governor Jones, awaking the Whigs of that State to action. He is a ready and able speaker, and reports the States of Tennessee and Kentucky as

We have seen and conversed with Mr. Markland since his return to this city, and he fully confirms the assurances we have received from other sources, that Tennessee is safe.

We have also had an interview with an intelligent and reliable gentleman, who has recently traversed the entire State, and learned the views of many of her best-informed citizens; and we are assured by him that the Whig party there never had better hopes of obtaining her vote than at present. In Eastern Tennessee we shall gain in every county but one, (and in that we shall hold our own,) over the vote given to Campbell last year, when he carried the State by 1,660. In Western Tennessee we shall gain in every county.

A great many false reports have been circulated that the progress of Senator Jones and General Cullom through Tennessee is a perfect triumph. They have every where addressed the people, and have uniformly challenged controversy with their opponents. It is here reported that Parson Brownlow had met and confronted Governor Jones; but this is entirely untrue.

Thus speaks a noble Democrat of Wisconsina man of high character and great efficiency. He and a number of friends and connexions, all hitherto Democrats, are now laboring with effect in the cause of Scott and Graham.

There are two men in Cincinnati, born and reared in the West, who are firm believers in the Mohammedan faith, and in the election of Gen. Scott to the Presidency. - Pennsylvanian. There are three who believe in the latter.

Pennsylvania.

In a letter from Harrisburg, dated Saturday last, a true and well-tried Whig, who well knows that State, says:

"On Tuesday next we shall meet our epponents, and do as well as we can for all our candidates; and in November we shall give the vote of Pennsylvania to Scott by 15,000 certain !"

Exportation of American Specie.

The exports of specie from New York from September 25th to Ocrober 2d, were $462,928; previously reported $20,652,870. Total for 1852, $21,115,868.—Exch.

It does seem that our people should give this ubject some attention. We have had the Calisubject some attention. We have had the Cali-fornia mines some three years, and yet our busitrade has confessedly gone against this country for many years, and our specie must supply the deficit. This may be good policy in some people's minds. But so far as the world has had experience, it goes directly antagonistical to such a course. Spain with Mexico, Central and South America as her tributaries, from one of the most powerful became one of the most dependent and silver were absorbed by other States, while her own people lost the stimulus to honorable exertion.—Syracuse Star.

The Elections To-day. The following remarks of the Intelligencer coneide entirely with our own information on this subject. A change in the votes of the people on State affairs has not been expected by any Whig as a necessary consequence of the preference of the people for General Scott. The Intelligencer Elections are to be held this day, in Pennsyl vania, Ohio, and Indiana. In the two former Judge of the Supreme Court and a member of the Board of Public Works are the only State officers to be chosen. In the latter a Governor Lieutenant Governor, and other officers are to be elected. Representatives to Congress are to be chosen in all.

We have never expected the Whigs to be able to carry the State ticket either in Ohio or Indi-ana. The chances are all against them.

In Ohio, Mr. Caldwell, the Demoratic candidate for the Supreme Bench, is one of the most popular men in his party. We have not the vote at hand by which he was chosen when a full bench of Supreme Judges was chosen, in October, 1851; but our impression is that he beat his competitor something like thirty thousand votes, and ran five thousand votes ahead of Gov. Wood last winter he drew the shortest, (one year,) and was subsequently nominated for re-election. As his Whig competitor (Mr. Harres) has a flood-tide in the way of political champions of the Whig party. his Whig competitor (Mr. Haynes) is a new man, and not very generally known through the State, he can hardly be expected to cope with such an antagonist. The Whigs of Ohio have never been remarkable for their alacrity in coming out to the polls at a State election; and even if they were, they would naturally be dis couraged in an unequal contest like the present The contest is not calculated to enlist the feelings of the masses, and we consequently anticipate a small vote in Ohio to-day, and the election of the entire Democratic State ticket. We shall, however, consider the result to-day as no crite which to judge of the strength of Gen Scott in Ohio, and any one who does so will find in November, that he has largely miscalculated In Indiana, Mr. Wright, the present Governor and Democratic candidate for re-election, was elected in 1849 by 6,760 majority, and has so borne himself that no one acquainted with Indi-ana politics anticipates his defeat. He is a pop-ular, plausible man; makes a good figure on the stump, and in many respects is better calculated to win votes than Mr. McCarty, his straight-forward and practical competitor. We have a let ter before us from a well-informed correspondent in Indiana which says "Wright will beat McCarty largely. His Methodist Whig friends will

The Slanderers of Scott.

"We said the other say, and we said it to the credit of this country, that it was impossible to enumerate or comprehend the various acts and kinds of homage rendered to the Duke of Wellington throughout his long career."

We clip the above paragraph from the London Times of the 22d ultimo. It expresses a very just sentiment, and one which it would be well for every people to adopt and act upon, to wit: that where men have served a State long and faithfully, both in peace and war, and at the same time that they have achieved for themselves a spotless reputation, have added a splendid chapter to the national history, the pu wards bestowd on them may be regarded as re-flecting "credit upon their country." In fact, the honors conferred upon the Duke of Welling-ten are now recalled by Englishmen and by mankind generally, as the appropriate occasion of pride and satisfaction to the people who awarded them greater even than all the happiness which Wellington himself derived from them as evidences of popular gratitude and approbation.

Believing this to be so, may we not, in view of the many and priceless services rendered the United States by Winfield Scott, and the unblemshed character of his life in every relation and position he has been placed in, esteem it a source of painful regret and public shame that at this time partisan journals and speakers are busily engaged in a purpose to make him infamous eve in the estimation of a large number of his own countrymen? Are not the feelings of every truehearted, generous citizen of the republic daily shocked by the foul epithets of "thief," "liar," and "ceward," which desperate and abandone political writers and orators attach to a name A great many false reports have been circulated with reference to this State. We are assured events in our history, and which, wherever heard, abroad or at home, seems to express in itself a whole volume of thrilling and lustrous eulogy of the American people?

The truth is, and it is beginning to be deeply and indignantly felt, too, by all persons, that to defame Winfield Scott is to slander and dishonor the entire nation, much of whose dearest and brightest fame his own fame and name embody; and the abusive, scandalous course of opposition which has been pursued against him as a candidate for the Presidency, will go, as it rightfully ought, far towards securing his triumphant election. The people are being rallied to his stan-dard even in defence and vindication of the national character, which has been already tarnished by his defamers, and which would be more effectually disgraced by his defeat in a popular election under the vile calumnies now ut tered against him. The best, the wisest, the most complete refutation of the base charges and denunciations made in relation to Scott, would be his elevation, by his countrymen, to the most honorable office in their gift; and we very much misread the indications of the feeling of the people upon this subject, if they do not, at the in November next, wipe out, with their votes the foul aspersions made by a shameless, heart less party upon him whose reputation is a part, and a dearly-valued part, of the reputation of this country .- North American.

The Game of Brag. We have beaten the Locofocos in the last twelve years twice to their once. But in every case before the election, they did not admit it to be pos sible that the Whigs could make a decent show. In the famous canvass of '40-at first Gen. Har rison was only allowed one State-as the canvas proceeded, they granted him three—and some of the more liberal Locofecos conceded it possi-ble that he might receive the votes of six. That was the utmost-and is was granted more through charity thad from any belief that he would ge it. This same was said in '44, when Polk only succeeded by the abolition vote of New York, and the Kane fraud in Pennsylvania. In '48 Taylor was allowed only three States—the idea of his election was hooted at as the greatest absurdity conceivable. As to General Scott, they have been even less liberal with him than al the rest. They have denied him a single State Some say they had at one time thought it possi-ble he might get Vermont—but that opinion is abandoned. They allow him nothing. Taking their past predictions, and the results that followed for our guide-their allowing Harrison but one, and his getting all but seven—their allow-ing Taylor three, and his getting less than Har-rison—we conclude that Scott, who is 'denied a single one by the Locefocos, will be allowed by the people the whole thirty-one. The signs have an awful squinting that way.—Richmond Whig.

The Boston Chronicle says: Among the wome now at Hartford, Conn., preparing to leave as teachers for the West, under the auspices of Gov. Slade, there is one young woman worthy of special mention. An orphan and penniless, she resolved to educate herself and move in a higher sphere. Amid poverty and toil, she began her labors. She entered a factory to earn her bread and obtain the means to educate herself. Her nights she devoted to study. Her object has been reached. Her work is done, and well done. She is a fine scholar. She can teach French and Latin. She is a fine performer and instructor of music, and is now ready for the field before he the illimitable West.

SANDUSKY, Ohio, October 9. General Scott left Tiffin this morning, after addressing the people who crowded around the cars. He expressed himself as greatly fatigued, bnd thanked God for the institution of the Sabaath, which on the merrow would be to him a welcome day of rest.

Throughout the entire route to Sandusky he was greeted by the same demonstrations of en-thusiasm which had heretofore characterized his receptions.

At Sandusky, a large concourse was gathered, despite the rain. Hon. E. Cook welcomed Scott to the City of the Lakes; after which he was escorted by a military and firemen's procession to the Exchange Hotel, where a public dinner had been provided. At night bonfires were kindled and much enthusiasm was displayed, thench the and much enthusiasm was displayed, though the rain fell in torrents.

Editor's Correspondence.

NORFOLK COUNTY, Va., Oct. 9, 1852. FRIEND CONNOLLY: For most of the campaign we have been very deficient in speakers to bring in competition with those of the opposition, many of whom have addressed the Democracy here by the Whig party, who have come among us to do good service in the cause of the old Chief, and who have added much to our already high spirits and sanguine expectations. The meetings we have been holding in Portsmouth and Norfolk have been of a protracted kind, the services of which have been ably conducted and with much effect, I am proud to say, by the Hon. C. Fenton Mercer, Capt. R. C. Carrington, Mayor of Richmond, and our own Jno. R. Kilby, Elector fer this the 1st Congressional district. Although we were long without this great lever to the suc cessful prosecution of a campaign, yet we have not been deficient in spirits and confidence—firm and steady like the old Chief whose cause we advocate. We have moved forward undeviatingly and without the loss of a man, amidst the fire of the enemy's batteries, both local and from abroad. Wise and Scott and Gallagher, their great cham-pions, made no acquisitions here, and if the droep-ing spirits of the once unterrified of this locality may be considered a fair index of the light in which they now view their prospects for the spoils, this being the boon for which they admit they are doing battle, surely it must be admitted the hand-writing is on the wall and their eyes have heheld it.

Here where, until but recently, the war-cry has been sounding—where the fiat had gone forth for a total extermination of all who hold positions under the Government, no matter how humble, in the navy yard and elsewhere, who dared to sustain the nominee of the Whig National Convention-here where individuals have been actually selected by caucus meetings of their party, to supply the places of those now in office, for the supposed aid they were likely to render the cause, and who have boasted of their good fortune in the prospective—here, let me tell you, the scene has changed; no game of brag, no threats or intimidating expressions, as formerly, now greet the ear. The sceptre that was but recently, in their vain imaginings, almost within their grasp, and with which they intended to wield with much more effect on their political opponents than did the "gallant Gen. Pierce" his on the enemies of his country whilst in Mexico, has suddenly vanished from the grasp of their palsied hands, and the (to them) hideous form of Whiggery, led on by the immortal hero of our country's destiny—the generous Scott— like some spectre of a "loathing" character is staring them in the eye, creating writhings and distortions that but for the exertions that have been made by some of the great guns suddenly thrown among them, trying to console where they have failed to reanimate the drooping and disconsolate, must certainly, in many instances, have "fainted" from the effects of the great revalsion in their prospects that has so suddenly overtaken them.

You are no doubt aware that a discussion was had in Pertsmouth, between Capt. Carrington of Boutetout county, and H. A. Wise, and what result and effect you can judge, when I inform you that Wise actually put in the plea that "he had not time" to answer the arguments, so ably advanced and sustained by Mr. Carrington. And when the time allttoed to each by the arrangements, drawn and signed by the Presidents of the Whig and Democratic clubs, had expired, bringing with it the "still sual hours of morning," Wise felt so keenly the umenviable position in which he found himself placed by his competitor, by his superior argument and more tenable positions, that he became violent in his gestures, and insulting in his language, because, forsooth, he was not allowed to continue the de-The result was that from words blows ensued between Mr. Holliday, the President of the Chippewa Club and the Hon. Mr. Wise. The latter was subsequently found, not on the stage where his rantings commenced, but on the flo of the hall, laying between the front benches and the stage, from which position he was rescued by a good Whig.

Thus ended a discussion in which the great Locofoco champion gained no laurels, and fared little better than in '48 under the powerful hammer of James Lyons in the same town. INDEX.

The Richmond Dispatch remarks: There are many of our readers, those of the ounger class, who have heard much of William Cobbett, but have never seen any specimen of his very singular powers. He wrote more than al-most any one man that ever lived. His writings, octavo volumes. Yet they have sunk almost into oblivion. This arises from the nature of the topics on which he wrote. They were generally of a political character, extremely interesting to the generation in which they occurred, but not carrying their interest any further. Of all the voluminous writings which he gave to the world, that which is the most humble and least pretending, is likely to be longest remembered and most frequently read; we allude to his American Gardener, a work which we have always regarded as one among the most valuable of its kind. We have always regretted that the efforts of his pow-erful mind were confined to the fleeting political disgussions of the day, and did not take a wider range. His letters, during the American war, from 1812 to 1815, are among the finest specimens of rough, strong, inexpugnable argument we have ever seen. They were of great service to the American cause in England, since they took off the veil with which the British press when he took up politics, has just completed a new tragedy, which is said will be brought out at the Odeon Theatre, Paris.

Affairs in Georgetown

GEORGETOWN, Oct. 12-12 m. The Rev. B. McGuire, President of Georgetown College, commenced, on Sunday-last, at Trinity Church, a series of highly interesting and instructive lectures. The one on Sunday was a rich treat to all who had the good pleasur of hearing it. Mr. McG. is one of the most eloquent ministers in the society. His arguments are clear and distinct, and his manner of speaking very interesting and impressive. They will be continued, until further notice, at 4 o'clock every Sabbath afternoon.

The protracted meeting which has been in pro-gress for three weeks at the Methodist Church continues to increase in interest, and every night a number of seekers of religion are at the altar of prayer. There is going on at the Methodist Protestant Church also a series of highly intersting meetings.

In Mercury's (of the Baltimore Sun) notice of the Banks of the District, and their locations, yesterday, two errors (unintentional, I have no loubt) occurred, which might perhaps lead persons abroad astray. In speaking of those in Georgetown he says: "Farmers' & Merchants', one of the chartered." No such Bank, te my knowledge, ever existed in our town. There is, nowever, the old Farmers' & Mechanics', one of the chartered, as firm as the rocks of Gibraltar, which continues to render to our merchants and others much good service.

Fatal Accident.—Yesterday while a young man named Nelson, was engaged in digging out the foundation for Mr. Herron's new building, a body of earth fell upon him, killing him immedi He was several times admonished of his danger, but disregarded the warnings until the sad accident befell him.

Disorderly Conduct .- Last night, while the ligilant fire company, were on their way to the fire in your city, an onset was made upon them by a party of individuals in the First Ward, and a portion of their apparatus taken from them. Not feeling willing to be embroiled in a street fight, they retreated for home, leaving their apparatus in the hands of the assailants. It was, however, thruogh the influence of some gentlemen, return ed without any injury. Can no one devise some law which will exclude disorderly persons from fire companies, and prevent them from running with the engines?

Iron Hall Assembly Rooms, Pa. Av.

Iron Hall Assembly Rooms, Pa. Av.

Will open for the ensuing season on Saturday next, October 16, at 2½ p. m., for ladies; at 3½ for children, and at 7½ for gentlemen.

In announcing myself as a teacher of Dancing, Deportment, "The Indian Sceptre Exercise for Ladies," (as recommended by Donald Walker on the Deformity of the Chest and Spine, Dr. Goulson, Dr. Birkbeck, and the medical profession generally, also the more Athletic Club Exercise for gentlemen, I have the honor to inform families, schools, parents, and the guardians of youth, that having studied under the very first masters in London, and a successful practice of fifteen years in England, testimonials of which I shall be happy to show, will, I trust, be a sufficient guaranty of ability in thus soliciting the patronage and support of the families of this District; and the advantage of most elegant rooms, infinitely superior to any other in Washington, enable me by attention and zeal, and the correct deportment of my pupils—a branch of the profession of the utmost importance, but too frequently neglected—to give satisfaction to my patrons; in one word, I ask nothing more than a FAIR TRIAL. All the fashionable Dances are taught by me as in Paris and London.

Terms for ladies and children, $12 per quarter—two lessons a week.

Terms for ladles and children, $20 per son a week.

For gentlemen, $8 per quarter—one lesson a week.

My first class Assembly will be on Tuesday next, the 19th
October, at 8 p. m. Admission, 50 cents.

Pupils half price, with permission to introduce two ladles.
All letters and applications addressed to J. K. Goodall, Iron Hall, will recoive prompt attention.

Private classes to suit the convenience of ladies and gentlemen may be arranged. [Union, Intel.] oct 12—d5t

ÆSOP'S FABLES.

A NEW version, chiefly from original sources, with more than FIFTY ILLUSTRATIONS. By Rev. Thomas James, M. A. The large, legible print, fine paper, and superior execution of its illustrations, make this the most superb edition of Æsop's Fahles extant.
